Course Description

This course places the founding of history of International Christian University (ICU) in the context of modern Japanese history. It traces the history of Christian higher education from the Meiji period and focuses on the experience of ICU from its founding in the immediate postwar period to the present day. It gives an appreciation of the history of ICU and its approach to education and how the history of ICU relates to national and global history. The course requires a research report taking advantage of primary materials in the ICU Archives and gain skills in reading historical documents and using these documents in academic writing.
