Course Description

This course serves as an overview of eighteenth-century literature. The curriculum focuses on the works of major authors of the Enlightenment within their respective philosophical and literary concentrations. This includes reflections on society and manners, religious and political criticism, and texts concerning human rights and the French Revolution (Montesquieu, Voltaire, Diderot, Rousseau, the encyclopedia, etc.) This course also looks at the upset of the novel genre (Diderot), epistolary writings, (Montesquieu and Rousseau).
