

COURSE DETAIL

INTERNATIONAL POLITICS OF HUMAN RIGHTS

Country

United Kingdom - England

Host Institution

University College London

Program(s)

Summer at University College London

UCEAP Course Level

Upper Division

UCEAP Subject Area(s)

Political Science International Studies

UCEAP Course Number

108

UCEAP Course Suffix

S

UCEAP Official Title

INTERNATIONAL POLITICS OF HUMAN RIGHTS

UCEAP Transcript Title

INT POL/HUMN RIGHTS

UCEAP Quarter Units

6.00

UCEAP Semester Units

4.00

Course Description

This course explores what human rights are and the different explanations of where rights come from. How human rights have changed and become imbedded in international law since World War II is explored. An understanding of the political advantage governments seek through violating human rights is sought and the economic and social consequences of repression, examined. Whether previous cycles of repression - like slavery, for example - make countries more likely to use violence today, are considered. Real-world examples are used to test and illustrate the arguments made in the literature - the conflicts in Syria and Iraq, and the former conflicts in Sri Lanka and the United Kingdom and Northern Ireland are a few examples.

Language(s) of Instruction

English

Host Institution Course Number

ISSU0009

Host Institution Course Title

INTERNATIONAL POLITICS OF HUMAN RIGHTS

Host Institution Campus

Host Institution Faculty

Host Institution Degree

Host Institution Department

Political Science

Print