Course Description

This course pays particular attention to theoretical underpinnings that have shaped the field of Education for International Understanding (EIU).

Decoding theoretical underpinnings and lenses of EIU is the key part of this course. At the same time, the course offers some tools for students to utilize for analyzing issues in EIU and provides some practical experiences of EIU through field trips. Put differently, the course aims to: introduce students to some basic concepts and perspectives of EIU; explore major theoretical underpinnings that are intertwined with the concept of EIU; provide tools for analyzing issues in EIU; and engage students in specific assignments in which they gain insight into a range of EIU practices.
