Course Description

Classical Literature 2A: Greek and Roman Epic is designed to present to students who already have some knowledge of the Greek and Roman world the opportunity to study in a more intensive and sustained fashion the work of some of the major poets of ancient Greek and Roman society, in translation. The focus is ancient epic poetry. The works studied may vary from year to year but the course is usually devoted to the study of three epics, studied in chronological order, e.g. Homer, Iliad. Translation by R. Lattimore Apollonius of Rhodes, Jason and the Golden Fleece, Translation by R. Hunter Virgil, Aeneid. Translation by F. Ahl The course consists of both lectures and tutorials. Lectures are designed to introduce students to the major themes to be covered in the course, while tutorials provide a forum for the discussion of more specific issues. Preparation and attendance at tutorials is compulsory.
