Course Description

This course is a year 2 core course within the Bachelor of Nursing with Honours (Adult). It provides students with an understanding of individuals' experience of common mental health problems and the impact that this has on their ability to engage with everyday life. Underpinned by the biopsychosocial model of mental illness, and taking a recovery-oriented approach, this course equips students to engage with people who experience mental health problems as people who are contextually situated within their particular social context. The development of relational understanding and interpersonal skills is central to this course which provides students with the opportunity to practice their communication skills in a safe environment.
