Course Description

This course offers in-depth analysis of the works of James Joyce including a wide range of short stories and excerpts from longer works, but with particular emphasis on The Dubliners and A Portrait of a Young Man. The course develops a strong grasp of the techniques and style of Joyce in constructing his unique narrative and understanding the socio-historic and modernist contexts in which he wrote. Homework and class assignments included weekly readings, numerous in-class presentations (up to 10 minutes long) on a variety of topics, class participation in group discussions, a midterm exam, and a term paper.
