

COURSE DETAIL

WINDS OF CHANGE: POLITICS, SOCIETY, AND CULTURE IN BRITAIN, 1899-1990

Country

United Kingdom - England

Host Institution

University of Manchester

Program(s)

University of Manchester

UCEAP Course Level

Upper Division

UCEAP Subject Area(s)

History

UCEAP Course Number

124

UCEAP Course Suffix*UCEAP Official Title

WINDS OF CHANGE: POLITICS, SOCIETY, AND CULTURE IN BRITAIN, 1899-1990

UCEAP Transcript Title

BRITAIN 1899-1990

UCEAP Quarter Units

8.00

UCEAP Semester Units

5.30

Course Description

In 1899, Queen Victoria ruled a vast overseas empire, well over half the population could not vote, the Independent Labour party had no MPs, sex between men was a crime and convicted murderers were hung. By 1990, the empire had fallen, all adult men and women had been enfranchised, the Labour party had over 225 MPs, including open homosexuals. This course will examine these profound transformations, paying particular attention to political allegiance, government policy, and social attitudes.

Language(s) of Instruction

English

Host Institution Course Number

HIST20252

Host Institution Course Title

WINDS OF CHANGE: POLITICS, SOCIETY, AND CULTURE IN BRITAIN, 1899-1990

Host Institution Campus

University of Manchester

Host Institution Faculty*Host Institution Degree

bachelors

Host Institution Department

History

Print