Course Description

This course is an introduction to Indigenous issues in Canada and abroad from a sociological perspective. Topics include definitions of Indigenous identity, Indigenous ways of knowing, food sovereignty, treaty rights, citizenship, self-determination, reconciliation, and resurgence. The course addresses the development of the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples and its consequences for Aboriginal peoples in Canada and internationally. The course emphasizes the distinctiveness of Indigenous worldviews and the challenges Indigenous peoples face when they are required to defend their rights and ways of life in contemporary social, legal, and political contexts.
