Course Description

In this course, students are exposed to a broad range of seminars, lectures, and discussions about the issues facing a globalized world. The course provides students with a sophisticated theoretical and applied understanding of international relations including areas of expertise such as war and security, globalization and development, and EU foreign policy. Subjects include an overview of international relations since 1945, the major international institutions and actors, war and security in a global era, and the European Union as a global actor.
