Course Description

People spend a considerable amount of time at work. The workplace thus provides a useful site for investigating various aspects of language and communication. This course discusses a range of features of workplace discourse and illustrates the impact social factors may have on the ways in which language is used in this context. The course also discusses and compares different methodological approaches and a variety of theoretical frameworks used for an analysis of workplace discourse. These tools are then used by the students to analyze naturalistic data.
