Course Description
In this class on the C1 level according to CEFR, students learn to understand a wide range of demanding, longer clauses, and recognize implicit meaning. They work to express ideas fluently and spontaneously without much obvious searching for expressions. Students study to use language flexibly and effectively for social, academic, and professional purposes. They practice to produce clear, detailed texts on a wide range of subjects, showing controlled use of organizational patterns, connectors, and cohesive devices. This course has a specific focus, such as working with texts or forms of academic discourse. It is open to all students at the university, not just exchange students.
