Course Description
This course examines the role of the intellectuals as well as the shift from a historicity regime which was in place during this period, followed by the growing disillusionment when faced with the repeated tragedies of history. It also revisits the important era of master thinker in the 1960s: Jean-Paul Sartre, Raymond Aron, Claude Lévi-Strauss, Michel Foucault, Jacques Lacan, Louis Althusser, Roland Barthes. Prerequisite for this course is a knowledge of the political history of France from post-World War II to 1968, or the Fourth Republic and the beginning of the Fifth Republic.
