Course Description

This course offers a panoramic vision of the history and culture of Spain through the presentation of short texts and significant works of architecture and painting. It covers fundamental concepts and ideas that are key to the historical, sociological and anthropological development of all layers of Spanish population and helped construct contemporary Spanish society. Instruction is divided between the classroom and the various museums of Madrid, presented chronologically from pre-Roman Spain to the present with visits to the Archeological Museum, the Prado, the Academy of Fine Arts, the Reina Sofia Center for the Arts, as well as the Madrid of the Austrias and the Madrid of the Bourbons. Assessment for the course is based on attendance and participation, several short compositions, and two short-answer exams.
