Course Description
This course studies basic concepts of constitutional law. Particular attention is devoted to: the functioning of a state, different systems of government, and the concept and application of the principle of separation of powers. Furthermore, different electoral systems and different mechanisms governing the relations between the executive and legislative branches of government are discussed. The issues of federalism and bicameralism are analyzed. Finally, the rules governing constitutional review are discussed, together with the issue of fundamental rights protection. These themes are addressed with regard to the American, German, French, British, and Dutch legal systems.
