Course Description
The Marine Insurance law deals with the rules and regulations regarding marine insurance. This course purely consists of contract law, and includes the Nordic Marine Insurance Plan 2013, conditions relating to Insurance for the Carriage of Goods, and P&I Insurance conditions. The course is divided into two main parts. The first part relates to the rules that are common for all or most marine insurance branches. The second part relates to the rules for the individual branch, i.e. hull insurance, insurance on interest, war risk insurance, loss of hire insurance, P&I insurance, and cargo insurance. Students discuss how the marine insurance market is organized in different types of contracts and what is covered under these contracts. The course examines what kind of issues the insurance contracts address. The aim is a good understanding of the concept of marine insurance and the content of a marine insurance contract. This course is designed for students at master degree level, however, the achievement requirements are adjusted for students who take the subject at bachelor degree level.
