Course Description

This elective seminar provides a study of the application of musical concepts to the study and analysis of poetry. Rhythm, meter, and melody, typical to the field of music theory, are applied to historical and contemporary Spanish-language poetry. The course also examines the ways in which traditional Spanish music, as well as music across the Hispanic diaspora, employs the same literary and musical concepts as poetry. Course also corresponds to partner numbers: 0520, 0521, 0522, 0523, 0524, 0525, 0526, 0527
