Course Description

This course centers around literary translation workshops in which students are asked to provide detailed and constructive feedback to peer work as well as take turns facilitating the workshops. The course introduces a number of translations of selected excerpts from various forms of literature (approx. 400 words) and to provide familiarity with some of the key elements/techniques of literary translation. English is the primary language of instruction; however, students are expected to be able to handle literary texts in both English and Japanese.
