Course Description

This course on leadership and followership addresses the challenge of having and following a sense of direction that is anchored in why an organization exists in the first place and for whom and what its products serve. It draws on the three perspectives of authentic, pioneering and legacy leadership to explore opportunities for leadership to have a constructive impact both on oneself and one's own, and those beyond the boundaries of one's own sphere. The course encourages a deeper understanding of leadership and leading/following dynamics by stimulating students' own reflections. The teaching format is interactive, and students are expected to actively participate in all elements of the course, including interactive lectures, classroom or small-group discussions, case work and workshops. Students are expected to be familiar with the material in standard leadership textbooks, such as: DuBrin, Andrew J. PRINCIPLES OF LEADERSHIP; Northouse, Peter G. LEADERSHIP – THEORY AND PRACTICE; Yukl, Gary LEADERSHIP IN ORGANIZATIONS; Bass, Bernard M. & Ruth Bass, THE BASS HANDBOOK OF LEADERSHIP; THEORY, RESEARCH & MANAGERIAL APPLICATIONS.
