Course Description
This is an advanced Cantonese language course focused on building up listening ability in professional context and presenting students with multi-media authentic materials. Topics for discussion include various local and international news and issues related to our society, such as education system,economy and immigration. This class teaches listening to Cantonese in a professional setting. Each week, the class listens to a Cantonese news video and breaks down the vocabulary and discusses the video. It is the highest level of Cantonese in CUHK, with most students fluent in the Romanized words of Cantonese. There are weekly quizzes and a midterm and final.
