Course Description
North Korea is a society that challenges our conventional ideas about development and modernity. While still proclaiming itself a socialist country, it relies heavily upon essentially Confucian notions of loyalty and filial piety for legitimizing itself internally. This course gives a coherent outline of North Korea's development from its beginnings to the present day in economy, society, politics, and ideology. Students gain an understanding of North Korean culture through literature, visual arts, and cinema. Students acquire a structured and coherent understanding of the process of North Korea's historical development. They gain in-depth knowledge of the main features of North Korea's economy, society, and its political and ideological system. Furthermore, students develop skills in critical understanding of North Korea's cultural products.
