Course Description

This combined seminar and lecture course discusses aspects of Central European visual culture from the modern era onwards. The course examines major art styles and personalities in Czech modern art from Art Nouveau's Alphonse Mucha and the pioneer of abstraction František Kupka, to contemporary provocations of David Cerný. Deep changes that occurred in architecture, from Art Nouveau decoration through Functionalist utopia, to deconstruction of Postmodernism is reviewed. All artworks are examined within their broader cultural and historical context. Students participate in excursions to Prague galleries and museums to encounter and study the originals in detail.
