Course Description

This course discusses fundamental trends and issues that explain the difference between the global North and South while conveying empirical knowledge and critical perspectives on global poverty and inequality. Students analyze development problems in different contexts in the South by linking key concepts, theories and strategies, as well as methods of measurement and poverty reduction efforts. Students become aware of the importance of a spatial perspective to development problems and processes highlighted by a value chain framework. This enables them to identify and understand the impact of regional and global processes on people's lives in specific places.
