Course Description
Feminist Theater explores key feminist theater makers from the Suffrage movement to the present, focusing on radical companies and writers of the 1970s and 1980s (Monstrous Regiment, Cunning Stunts, Pam Gems, Caryl Churchill). Combining seminars and practical workshops, it investigates what feminist historiography is and how you can engage creatively with archives. The course invites you to draw on a lineage of feminist ideas and methods to consider and challenge the continued under representation of women in theater (and beyond). Assessment will be part analytical and part creative or creative-critical work, with an option to create a performance.
