Course Description
This course looks at Irish history from the beginning of Home Rule Movement, through the War of Independence, the establishment of the Republic of Ireland, to Ireland's role in Europe today. Though the course is essentially political in its focus, attention is given to social and cultural issues. Considerable attention is given to the history of Northern Ireland, from both the Nationalist and Unionist perspective, and to the present reestablishment of self-autonomy. Students are reminded throughout the course of parallel developments in European politics and society.
