Course Description
The main objective is to understand the role of formal education and education outside the school in contemporary societies. Besides presenting the classic major sociological theories of education, an array of case studies that elaborate on extra-curriculum education are also presented. Themes include the relationship between education and nation building, the impact of schooling on social stratification, the functions and effects of education, the teaching of discipline through extra-curricular educational activities, and the relationship between the educational system and the workplace. The course also considers marketization and censorship in education and the question of whether education should be a tool to reform society or to maintain the status quo.
