Course Description
This course provides an introduction to the field of theater for children, and to young people in Ireland. The course examines the subject in terms of its history, practice, and function, placing particular emphasis on theater, young people, and the audience. The course is taught through a combination of lectures, discussion, group work, and practical theatrical experimentation. Students learn about the distinctiveness and purposes of children's theater, and obtain a practical and theoretical understanding that allows them to examine it in form and function.
