Course Description

This is a higher intermediate level language course for international students. The course builds on skills and knowledge acquired in NORINT0120 or the equivalent. A passing mark in NORINT0130 meets the Norwegian language requirements for Faculty admission at Norwegian universities and university colleges. For some professional authorizations (eg. dentists, medical doctors) other requirements may be in place. In class, oral activities are focused on as well as a further development of the students' writing skills. The students work with a selection of freestanding oral and/or written literature and articles on subjects like the multicultural society, environment, and climate. This to develop a higher degree of language proficiency as well as to prepare the students for further studies or a professional career where Norwegian is the working language. After completing the course, students are at the CEFR B2 or C1 level.
