Course Description

In this Skills course, students work to develop and improve their presentation and feedback capabilities. Students give four presentations, the first on an assigned topic, and the remaining three on self-selected academic topics. The course discusses topics including delivery, content, structure, visual aids, audience, and feedback. Students explore the importance of giving, receiving, and using constructive feedback in order to improve their presentation proficiencies. Students must have background knowledge of PowerPoint, Prezi, or other types of slideware as a prerequisite for this course.
