Course Description

This course gives students a basic understanding of the linguistic structures of Irish Sign Language (ISL). It introduces the basic descriptive parameters of the language. Focus is particularly on the phonetic, phonological, morphological, and morph-syntactic breakdown of ISL, with reference to other signed language given to provide a cross-linguistic comparator. Topics include analysis of the basic parameters of a sign, compounding processes in ISL, verb categories in ISL, non-manual features, and use of space in ISL. Later, particular focus is on the morpho-syntax, semantics, and pragmatics of ISL. Topics for discussion include the identification of word order in ISL, use of topic constructions, question marking, negation, reflexives and reciprocals in ISL, and passive constructions. Other issues addressed include iconicity and gesture, and their relationship to signed languages.
