Course Description

This course is an introduction to sociology. It treats sociology as a science and a profession, emphasizing scientific questions, theories, methods, findings, and their applications. It covers a wide range of topics and social phenomena, such as inequality, crime, immigration and ethnicity, intergroup hate, misperceptions, polarization, religion, gender, and modernization. The course introduces useful sociological ‘tools’ and ‘principles' designed to describe and understand social phenomena scientifically. Furthermore, students receive an introduction to key sociological concepts, theories, perspectives, methods, and stylized findings.
