Course Description

The course focuses on the event of social management. It discusses how to govern the society, country and the world. In Chinese Philosophy, Confucianism and Taoism define the basic value of management principle, while the Book of Change and Book of Talented Person suggest more details. The former points on issues of bureaucrat problems while the later concerns how to look for talented persons. The above schools and Books start their thinking from the meaning of human beings in order to find out the ultimate ideal of people's life. As for the idea to service society, some teaches how to be a good leader, how to do the personnel training, how could be quick-witted, how to recognize one's characteristic, and some even suggests individualism thus could well be used on the management of leisure event and retire life. The course will have enough discussion and the teacher will answer students' questions. Through the Q & A could bring up students' ability to deal with modern social life by renewing those old doctrines. The course will have middle and final examination where the text taught in the classes is the point. Beside with the middle and final examination students should hand over documents telling what they had learned from the course and how they use those ideas to solve their daily problems.
