Course Description

This course surveys the history of the Atlantic world and European, African, and American societies just before and after "discovery". It discusses the economic and political environment that led to the colonial enterprise and its consequences, as many diverse new societies were forged through conflict, conquest, resistance, and cooperation. This course examines how Europeans, Africans, and Indigenous peoples had their lives completely changed by the events that followed the Commercial Revolution and colonial expansion. It examines interconnections and lines between peoples, nations, trade, and global events.
