COURSE DETAIL

INTRODUCTION TO LINGUISTICS: LANGUAGE AND MIND
Country Netherlands
Host Institution Utrecht University – University College Utrecht
Program(s) University College Utrecht
UCEAP Course Level Lower Division
UCEAP Subject Area(s) Linguistics
UCEAP Course Number 50
UCEAP Course Suffix
UCEAP Official Title INTRODUCTION TO LINGUISTICS: LANGUAGE AND MIND
UCEAP Transcript Title LANGUAGE & MIND
UCEAP Quarter Units 6.00
UCEAP Semester Units 4.00

Course Description

This course offers an introduction to the field of linguistics, the systematic study of language. The study of linguistics reflects a combination of reasoning found in the humanities, social sciences, and natural sciences. Students review key concepts, the analysis of human language properties, and empirical possibilities and impossibilities of natural language. The course examines a range of topics which include the definition of language, how language works, shared properties of language, how language is learned, outside influences on language, and language variation and change. This course consists of lectures, discussions, student presentations, and projects.

Language(s) of Instruction
English

Host Institution Course Number
UCHUMLIN11

Host Institution Course Title
INTRODUCTION TO LINGUISTICS: LANGUAGE AND MIND

Host Institution Course Details
https://cursusplanner.uu.nl/course/UCHUMLIN11/2022/SEM1

Host Institution Campus

Host Institution Faculty
Humanities

Host Institution Degree

Host Institution Department
Linguistics

Course Last Reviewed
2021-2022

Print