Course Description
In this class on the B2 level according to CEFR, students learn to understand the main ideas of complex texts on both concrete and abstract topics, including technical discussions in their field of specialization. They practice to interact with a degree of fluency and spontaneity that makes regular interaction with native speakers quite possible without strain for either party. Students work to produce clear, detailed text on a wide range of subjects and explain a viewpoint on a topical issue giving the advantages and disadvantages of various options. This course often uses a special topic taken from fields such as film and media, history, politics, or culture, as the structure for studying German language, and topic-related field-trips can be included. The B2 level is split into two consecutive courses, the B2.1 course covers the first half of the level and the B2.2 course covers the second half of the level.
