Course Description
Soft-Skills have a great impact on our success and satisfaction in life. The concept of soft-skills consists both of inter-personal and intra-personal aspects. This course presents a well-balanced and practical view of the soft skills world. Self-experience is one of the most important outcomes of this course and therefore active learning methods are used in every class. The following topics are covered: social perception, stereotyping, and prejudices; effective communication principles; coaching; self-management; presentation skills; assertiveness and manipulation recognition; resolving conflicts; teamwork and group problem solving; stress management; authenticity and values; and creativity.
