Course Description

This class teaches the evolution of France Asia Policy after World War II in the European context following a chronological and thematic organization. Until the end of the Algerian crisis (1962) and even beyond if one refers to the African continent, French foreign policy has been trapped in its colonial past. Its foundations were defined and implemented by General de Gaulle: national independence and refusal of a bipolar world hence its overtures to the new China, the USSR and the Third World. Under the Fifth Republic (from 1958 to the present day), French foreign policy is the responsibility of the President of the Republic, and the course will present the evolution of France Asia Policy following the chronology of the Presidents of the Republic. However, the international situation is changing. The European Union plays an increasing role in spite of its weakness and the importance of Asia has profoundly modified the global balance of powers.
