Course Description

This advanced introductory course in Norwegian language for international students at UiO takes place both online and in class. This is the second introductory Norwegian language course for international students taught in English in a series; though both Norwegian and English language is used in class. The students follow a MOOC online course (Introduction to Norwegian 2) for four weeks, and then four meetings are held on campus. In addition to getting an introduction to Norwegian language, the students become familiar with the student life and everyday life at UiO. After taking this course students are able to express themselves comprehensively on familiar topics, both written and oral; understand oral Norwegian about familiar topics when the interlocutor speaks clearly and slowly; understand written Norwegian about familiar topics; master Norwegian morphology and syntax reviewed during the course; and master basic Norwegian pronunciation reviewed on the course. The course requires students to have completed NORINT0105M - Introduction to Norwegian at UiO as a prerequisite.
