Course Description

This course complements the competency of Modern Standard Arabic achieved in previous studies of Arabic. There are local materials, where students will use Arabic to read and discuss relevant topics in Jordan. Attention is paid to the four language skills: listening, speaking, reading and writing. During the course, students become familiar with major aspects of the Jordan culture and many traditions related to Jordan in general. The course practices arguing the main ideas of a listening passage and discussing them in the class; expressing oneself verbally without mistakes in different situations using a language comprehensible for native speakers; formulating opinions on news articles or books and discussing issues related to Jordan, climate, economy, and culture; writing a diary and creating text on social, cultural, and political issues of Jordan and the Middle East; distinguishing between words in relation to position in the sentence, applying different grammatical structures, and distinguishing between them including changes in the meaning.
