Course Description

The purpose of this course is to teach relevant domain knowledge of the acquisition of firms for pursuing synergistic or undervalued targets worldwide. Before or after mergers and acquisitions (M&A), asset restructuring can be a must to achieve strategic renewal and organizational reinvention for legitimacy and profitability. This course observes how acquisitions and restructuring have played out in the global business field and in Taiwan.

This is an inter-disciplinary course that lays its groundwork on entry-level courses in management, finance, and organization. Thus, basic knowledge in these subjects (or equivalent), though not regarded as pre-requisites, contribute to effective learning.
