Course Description

Spanish 201 aligns with the elementary level A2 objectives of the Common European Framework of References for Languages (CEFR), which focus on learners' capacity to communicate and act in real-life situations, express themselves effectively, and accomplish tasks of different natures, taking in to account (inter)cultural contexts. It will deepen communicative skills as well as intercultural knowledge of the diverse Hispanic world through relevant contexts such as personal relationships, cultural values, customs, traditions, political and historical leaders, contemporary society and technology. It provides some review of the vocabulary and grammar from Spanish 101/102 (preterit and imperfect), and expands lexical repertoire and introduces new grammatical structures. This classroom offers different ways for content delivery through exposure to literary readings, audios, videos, short films, slides; reflected also in the type of assignments and assessments (written and video assignments, oral interviews) designed for diverse learning styles. Its principal objective is to deepen students' skills for communicating in Spanish by providing extensive opportunities to use the language as a vehicle for information interchange and for developing cross-cultural awareness, as well as strengthening listening, reading, writing and grammatical skills. This course is conducted in Spanish and students are expected to speak only in Spanish during class.
