Course Description

Through this course, we explore Korea’s premodern and modern belief systems according to the peninsula’s interactions with other parts of the world—particularly East Asia and the West. Topics include the rise of transnational Jesuit spirituality, catholic Christianity, and Korean Confucianism: accommodation and conflict, the rise of Protestantism in Korea and the emergence of an “ethically Confucianized Christianity”, bible women, the early modern evolution of home care, and the Seoul evangelistic center, protestant Christianity in the northern regions of Korea: Jerusalem of the east (to 1945), and exilic north Korean Christianity (1990~present).
