Course Description

This course introduces students to the foundations of macroeconomics with an emphasis on the tools used in economic analysis. The course instructs on how macroeconomic data is constructed and how to interpret it. Students will also use graphical tools to understand some basic macroeconomic theories and analyze how policy changes impact the macroeconomy. A final group project involves using the skills and tools learned in the class to analyze the macroeconomy of a selected country.

This course is a "Foundation" course required for all ICU Economics majors and is prerequisite for most 200-level and 300-level courses in Economics.
