Course Description

This is an introductory course to literature in Ireland in the English language. It gives students a general overview of literature in Ireland in the English language and a detailed knowledge of a limited number of specific texts. Students read a range of Irish literary texts with a particular focus on literature written since the Revival period that began in the late 19th century. It is divided into the following sections: contexts, poetry, drama, and fiction. Key texts include ones by W. B. Yeats, James Joyce, Elizabeth Bowen, and Marina Carr. The course ends with a survey of Irish literature across a range of genres in the early part of the 21st century.
