Course Description

This course presents an overview of Latin American novels in the 20th century. Readings include the works of several authors on the following topics: the aftermath of modernism; regionalism and the nature in novel writing; alternative narrative cycles and social tensions; "indigenista" and "gaucho" novels; novels during and on the Mexican Revolution; vanguards and renovation (R. Arlt, M. Fernandez, and A. Carpentier); mythical spaces and reality (J. Rulfo, J.C. Onetti, and G. Garcia Marquez); the "boom" cycle of Hispano-American novels (M. Vargas Llosa); and recent trends (S. Elizondo, G. Cabrera Infante, M. Puig, and J.J. Saer).
