

COURSE DETAIL

ECONOMIC AND BUSINESS ANTHROPOLOGY

Country

Denmark

Host Institution

University of Copenhagen

Program(s)

University of Copenhagen

UCEAP Course Level

Upper Division

UCEAP Subject Area(s)

Economics Anthropology

UCEAP Course Number

134

UCEAP Course Suffix*UCEAP Official Title

ECONOMIC AND BUSINESS ANTHROPOLOGY

UCEAP Transcript Title

ECON&BUSINESS ANTH

UCEAP Quarter Units

6.00

UCEAP Semester Units

4.00

Course Description

This course provides an opportunity to rediscover classics, to explore contemporary economic and business issues, and to consider and discuss different approaches to anthropological work in economy and business. It provides classic and new knowledge within economic and business anthropology, develops a curiosity, overview, and understanding of the field and related fields, allows and encourages use of economic and business anthropology in the analysis of student's own empirical data, planned fieldwork, theoretical debates, or current issues. Topics include markets, capitalism, exchange, money, debt, leadership, organization, design, and consumption, as well as additional concepts of interest to students.

Language(s) of Instruction

English

Host Institution Course Number

AANA18138U

Host Institution Course Title

ECONOMIC AND BUSINESS ANTHROPOLOGY

Host Institution Campus

Host Institution Faculty

Social Sciences

Host Institution Degree

Bachelor

Host Institution Department

Anthropology

Print