Course Description

This course is an introductory survey of the major schools of Chinese Philosophy. Students begin their exploration of Chinese thought with a reading of Confucius' Analects where they focus on central concepts such as "filial piety", "ritual propriety", "rectification of names", "mandate of heaven", and "benevolence". Students also explore the two main Daoist classics, the Daodejing and the Zhuangzi, considering such concepts as "non-action", "non-speaking", "emptiness/absence" and theories of relativism, perspectivism and non-attachment. This course is also dedicated to introducing the four main schools of Chinese Buddhism; Chan, Huayan, T'ian Tai, and Mind-Only and their contrasting ideas of enlightenment, emptiness, truth, and co-dependent origination.
