Course Description

This course explores the intersection of environmental geography and Nature-Based Solutions (NbS) to address the grand challenges facing our world. The primary goal of this course is to equip students with the knowledge and skills necessary to design, implement, and advocate for NbS that effectively contribute to achieving the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). By understanding the intricate relationships between natural systems and human development, students are prepared to create innovative solutions that promote environmental sustainability, economic viability, and social equity – key concepts in environmental geography.
