Course Description

This course focuses on the language, but also on the history, geography, artistic works, traditions and current events of the Spanish-speaking countries and their communities. Language learning constitutes the 75% of the course assignments, whereas Culture assignments constitute 25% of the final grade. Tasks in various forms related to language and cultural topics are performed individually and in groups. Contact hours focus on language practice in line with the textbook chapters. Students mainly work in pairs and small groups. All participants have to complete obligatory self-study assignments before class. Students are expected to take part during the lessons as well as in group tasks.
