Course Description

This course is dedicated to eloquence in French as a foreign language. It gives students the keys to speaking with ease, convincing and captivating their audience. The course works on the fluency, clarity, and impact of speeches, using documents from French culture in an intercultural perspective. Listening to and understanding others enables everyone to progress and "carry your voice," as Stéphane de Freitas puts it. The main activities include: vocal and body warm-up: work on breathing, posture, self-confidence, sound-based games; spontaneous expression games: exercises to free speech and enrich vocabulary; active listening and critical thinking skills; practice in prepared speeches: learn to structure, argue, work on tone and emotional management, appropriate oratory techniques and classic French rhetoric. This course offers a comprehensive approach to improving speaking skills and mastering eloquence by blending oratory techniques, practical exercises and creativity. Qualified guest speakers will enhance the practical aspects of the course.
